

Chen Yang – Timpanist & Percussionist

Chen Yang, a Taiwanese timpanist and percussionist, earned his Master of Music from New York University and studied at the Yong Siew Toh Conservatory in Singapore on full scholarships. He is the Principal Percussionist and Timpanist of the Taiwan Artists Symphony Orchestra.

He has performed Beethoven's symphonies and served as Principal Timpani for major orchestras. As a soloist, he has performed internationally and studied under Joshua Quillen of So Percussion.

He co-founded Cc Percussion and established Cc Music Center, Taiwan's largest percussion hub. A dedicated educator, he teaches in Tainan and Kaohsiung and conducts masterclasses across Taiwan.

His mentors include Jonathan Haas, Jim Saporito, Simon Boyar, Jonathan Fox, and Michael Ju.